Wingold Week

Look for your grocer's name in the panel below. This is "Wingold" Week in his store.

Make this "Wingold" Week in your home—a bread "banquet" for dad and the children. Delicious creamy-flavor bread containing the proper proportions of bone and muscle building nourishment. This is the week to try "Wingold" Flour—ask your grocer.

Janesville Grocers Proclaim

April 17-April 22

"Wingold" Week

THIS is "Wingold" Week all over town. Your grocer takes this opportunity to offer you the finest flour in America on a positive money back guarantee. A guarantee so liberal that people, everywhere, will settle their baking problems forever or receive their money back. You have nothing to lose and everything to gain.

"Wingold" Flour is clean flour made from wholesome wheat. It is milled from the finest hard Spring Wheat procurable. This is the quality of wheat that Nature intended you to have in order to build strong, healthy bodies. Every kernel of this wheat is thoroughly washed and scoured to insure absolute purity. Twenty gallons of constantly changing pure water are used to clean one bushel of wheat for "Wingold" Flour.

The Oldest Wisconsin Families
Depend Upon "Wingold" Flour

"Wingold" Flour is milled under the most sanitary conditions in the sunshine mill of the Northwest. By reason of its purity and select uniform, high quality, "Wingold" Flour has established itself everywhere, as the flour that's worth all it costs.

"Wingold" Flour is the children's flour—the workingman's flour—the doctor's flour—the farmer's flour—the lawyer's flour—the critical baker's flour—it is the flour of the hour.

Prove our sincerity! Call or telephone your grocer today and have him deliver your sack of "Wingold" Flour. Make this "Wingold" Week in your home. Money promptly refunded if you are not completely satisfied.

We do the cooking for you in our two-million dollar kitchen, the cleanest, finest food factory in the world, visited every year by one hundred thousand pilgrims from all lands.

Shredded Wheat

is the whole wheat cooked in steam, drawn into filmy, porous shreds and baked in coal ovens—a process that retains all the body-building elements in the whole wheat grain and makes them digestible in the human stomach. Two Biscuits make a good, nourishing meal. Saves fuel, saves strength, saves time.

For a warm, nourishing meal heat two Biscuits in the oven to restore their crispness; pour hot milk over them, adding a little cream and a dash of salt. Delicious with sliced bananas, prunes, raisins or canned fruits.

TRISCUIT is the Shredded Wheat cracker—a real whole wheat toast—and is eaten with butter or soft cheese.

Send two-cent stamp for copy of our new book, "The Happy Way to Health," which tells how to keep healthy and strong and how to prevent many ailments and diseases by eating the right kind of food.

MATHESON SEES BUSINESS ON GAIN

Assemblyman Optimistic After Tour Through South and West.

A two months' trip to California by way of the south returning by way of the north, has convinced Assemblyman A. E. Matheson of this city that, although the entire country has felt greatly the depression in business, general conditions are improving and another good crop will see normally much closer.

Mr. Matheson, with his son, John, returned to the city Friday. Mrs. Matheson and her sister, Mrs. Gail, are now at the latter's home in Elgin, Ill., and Mrs. Matheson will return to the city in a few days. She and her son went to California in December to visit Miss Marian Matheson, teaching at Pomona college, Claremont.

"On our way home, we went north to San Francisco, Portland, Seattle, Victoria, Vancouver, Winnipeg, and Minneapolis. Evidence of depression were noted all the way back except on the coast, where the lumber business seems to be flourishing as ever. Depression is bad in Canada, but with another good crop, conditions will be much improved.

South Feels Effects. "The south also feels the depression. The cotton industry is important and in Canada, I met several officials of the provincial government of Alberta, among them being the mayor of Edmonton. This city is now running under a modified city manager plan in which the mayor works with the manager. The manager there has changed a deficit in the street car system of $200,000 to a profit of $50,000.

"I was in doubt for a day or two as to my duty concerning the special session of the legislature which had been called, but after a great deal of telegraphing decided not to return. I am very glad I made that decision, because of what was done at the session."

Sees Many Former Residents. Among the people known here whom Mr. Matheson met were J. C. Wilmeth at El Paso, with whom he visited that city and Juarez; M. R. Osborn, formerly of this city, now head of a development company at Los Angeles; Miss May Valentine and sister, Mrs. Roland Lewis; Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Lewis, spending the winter at Oakland; Mrs. Fred Hanchett and Mrs. David Jack; Miss May Cunningham; Major and Mrs. Oakley; Dr. Blaisdell, well-known in this section, now head of Pomona college at Claremont; Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Tanager, former residents; Alexander Galbraith, with whom he spent three days at Edmonton.

Mr. Matheson also had many visits with Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Davidson. Mr. Davidson is now professor of philosophy at Pomona college, and is very popular there. He was formerly pastor of the First Congregational church here.

Los Angeles Is Growing. The climate at Claremont caused Mr. Matheson to be ill for several days. People from here are accustomed to the warm days and cold nights.

Los Angeles is growing as rapidly as ever, stated Mr. Matheson, and soon expects to have a million population. "A person as conservative as myself naturally wonders where it will all stop," he said, "but there is one thing that cannot be taken from the city and that is its wonderful climate."

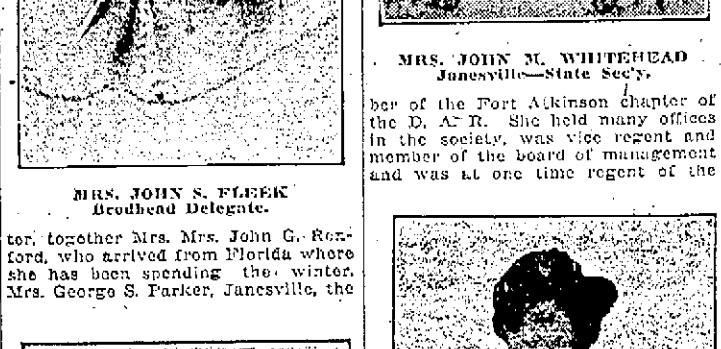

Cong. Luthers Annex Games. W. L. Pett. St. Mary's 5 1 323 Methodist 5 2 350 St. Patrick's 5 2 350 United Brethren 5 2 350 River Lutheran 5 2 350 Congregational 4 2 371 Presbyterian 4 2 387 St. Peter's 1 6 313 Trinity 1 6 342 Baptist 1 6 343

No changes occurred in the standing of the church basketball league through games played at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday night. However, the Congregational and First Lutherans strengthened their positions. The Cong. defeated Trinity 11 to 5 while the Lutherans hammered through St. Peter's 14 to 5. # MOB OF 3,000 IN CLEANUP OF CITY

Undesirable Characters and Much of Negro Populace Warned to Leave.

Haynesville, La.—Persuaded to wait until the rain they were after had been identified by his alleged victim, a mob estimated at 300 to 500 which surrounded the Haynesville jail Sunday night bent on taking Ralph Coleman, suspected in the assault and robbery of Tony Pierce, left 100 of its members at the jail and started on a "cleaning" of Haynesville.

As the crowd went about its self appointed task, it grew rapidly until by the time it started for the center and Hancock Spur, with the announced intention of "cleaning" those oil field settlements also, it had grown to 3,000.

The mob visited a number of hotels and rooming houses, notifying certain men and women among their occupants to pack up and depart.

"CARDIGAN"
What better endorsement of this "Red Blooded" American photo-play could be had than the following, from our own people of Janesville, who saw it at a special showing Saturday morning:

Joseph Connors, representing Rotary Club—Wonderful, clean, instructive, patriotic.
Mrs. George Buckholz—I consider it a very good picture, historically and instructive for the children.
Catherine McManis—I think it a remarkable picture and well worth seeing, from an educational standpoint.
Kate S. Nelson—The best picture I have ever seen. Every boy and girl in America should see it.
Mrs. Nuzum—A very good historical picture.
W. Lamoreaux—Educational as well as entertaining. No growing American boy should miss it.
James Gage—Every American should see it. It fills a long felt want for a historical picture.
A. Housholder—A splendid historical portrayal and a pretty little story interwoven.
Eulalia Drew—This picture should interest everyone. I think the characters were well chosen.
J. Nolan—Wonderful, very real and clean.
P. H. Korst—A thrilling picture of scenes at the outbreak of the Revolution. A clean picture, plenty of Indians and fighting, to please the kids and kindle their loyalty.
Mrs. L. F. Bonnett—Chairman of the Athena Class—A fine picture full of ideals and patriotism. It features the story of Paul Revere and should be seen by every loyal American.
This picture was shown in Chicago last week at $1.00. We could raise our price easily, but, you know our policy,

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

George Morton goes to work at the home of Planter, a rich man, when his father loses all his property—a large business. George becomes a horse trainer and as a part of the job acts as groom to Sylvia Planter when she is driven from the place and seeks an education, goes to Princeton, meets Silky, a tutor, gets a place on the football team and aids his college to win from Harvard. Betty Allison is very kind to George, but when he meets her friend, Sylvia, which is embarrassing, George gets a job with a college office, making a suit and in college secures a high social position. But Sylvia still flouts him, showing preference for a scoundrel, Dalrymple. George goes to war. On his return he enters into love with Betty Dalrymple in a crook. He and Lambert are shocked to discover that Dalrymple has been married to a scoundrel. The morning after the wedding George finds Sylvia and in a moment of contention he takes her in his arms and is discovered by Dalrymple, who demands money as a bribe to his wounded pride. He is driven from the house and makes threats. Sylvia and George part and he returns to his old tutor, George Bally, at Princeton.

"Too bad we can't try to kill each other," Lambert said, regretfully. "Why not watch younger brutes?"

"I've wanted to," George acknowledged. "I'll wire Squibs."

George was perfectly sure that Squibs knew nothing, for he wasn't socially curious and Betty would have hesitated to tell him about what had happened. But he was sure that he was conscious, after the first moment of meeting, of a continued scrutiny from Squibs, of a hesitancy of manner, of an unusually careful choice of words.

He had a sudden realization of this impression, for it was noon when he reached the house in Dickson Street, and there were many of the tutor's products in the dining room, snatching at cold bits while they roared confused pessimism about the game.

"You're going to the side lines," Squibs said when they had climbed the ramp to their section of the stand.

"I'd be in the way," George objected.

Bally stood at him.

"George Morton on a football field could only be in the way of Harvard and Yale."

George experienced a quick, ardent wish for thick turf underfoot, for a seat on the bench among players exhalting a thick atmosphere of eager and absorbed excitement.

"Tutor leave me down the steps," Squibs called to Green, who was distraught.

"What is it, Mr. Bally?"

"I've got Morton."

"Green springs a life."

"Stringham! An omen! An omen!"

He met George at the gate and threw his arms around him. Stringham hurried up. Green crowded.

"I believe you'll kill the fellows or come mighty close to it."

"Of course you'll lick them, Green. Hello, Stringham! May I sit down?"

"The student's yours," Stringham said, simply.

He walked along the line of eager players, smothered in blankets or sweaters. George caught snatches of the curiosity of youth, because of nervousness, too audibly expressed.

"That's the big fellow?"

"That's Longest Kicker, fastest man for his weight ever played the game. George Morton—the great Morton."

"Green springs a life."

"Stringham! An omen! An omen!"

He met George at the gate and threw his arms around him. Stringham hurried up. Green crowded.

"I believe you'll kill the fellows or come mighty close to it."

"Of course you'll lick them, Green. Hello, Stringham! May I sit down?"

"The student's yours," Stringham said, simply.

He walked along the line of eager players, smothered in blankets or sweaters. George caught snatches of the curiosity of youth, because of nervousness, too audibly expressed.

"That's the big fellow?"

"That's Longest Kicker, fastest man for his weight ever played the game. George Morton—the great Morton."

George Morton on a football field could only be in the way of Harvard and Yale.

George experienced a quick, ardent wish for thick turf underfoot, for a seat on the bench among players exhalting a thick atmosphere of eager and absorbed excitement.

"Tutor leave me down the steps," Squibs called to Green, who was distraught.

"What is it, Mr. Bally?"

"I've got Morton."

"Green springs a life."

Farm Bureau Official Information News for Farmers

FARM BUREAU MAY ABSORB MILK POOL

The Committee of Nine Meets in Chicago on Next Tuesday.

By LEWIS C. FRENCH.
Nine men meeting in Chicago on Tuesday in the office of the American Farm Bureau federation will attempt to solve the problem of cooperative marketing of milk in the Chicago district. They hope to have a marketing plan that will be fundamental and permanent in its scope.

They have got quite a job on their hands. It is to be hoped that a harmonious program to the dairy farmers will be developed because of the vital importance of milk and milk products not only to the farmers but to business interests in the city. Southern Wisconsin farmers can never be fully prosperous until they have a certain and well regulated market for their milk without a surplus going to waste in the city market at low prices.

Dairy farming has ceased to be fully profitable for milk alone. Under present prices farmers can actually lose money on milk in the event they do not have a herd culled for good production.

Marketing Committee.
E. P. Heaton, director of dairy marketing for the Farm Bureau, started the movement to have the American Farm Bureau step in to heal the breach between the marketing company and the milk producers' association, now at loggerheads.

The committee is composed of the following members: C. Y. Gregory, Wisconsin, editor of the Prairie Farmer; Hugh C. Hemmingsway, secretary of the Rock county Farm Bureau, Janesville.

L. J. Larson, Wisconsin, director of the dairy marketing department, Illinois Agricultural association. These three represent the Farm Bureau.

For the marketing committee the three named were:

J. T. Williams, Sterling, president marketing company; A. C. Stoen, Bassett, Wis., vice president of the marketing company.

T. R. Keene, Wheeler, Indiana, secretary marketing company.

When the milk producers' association refused to appoint three the Farm Bureau took the lead and named three others, who are:

Perry H. Cramer, Indianapolis, secretary of the Indiana federation of farmers' associations; John K. Rathbun, Lombard, Ill., director of Du Page county Farm Bureau.

Paul G. Gilley, Barrington, Ill., treasurer of the Chicago milk producers' association.

Business Methods.
It is regretted that the marketing company is represented by its vice officers, Williams, Stoen and Keene. They may or may not be capable men—but there may be trouble in getting these three to see anything but the virtues of the company they represent.

It is to be hoped that the company has sufficient power and energy to simply ride rough shod over the petty details who have been selling themselves up in either the marketing company or producers' association and establish the efficient business administration. Rock county farmers have heard too much about but seen so little. No farmer is ever going to make a success of the Chicago cooperative milk marketing pool. His job is producing milk and it is the committee's job to get for him in a satisfactory manner.

"The dairy producers are in the well known state of mind of 'being sick and tired' of 'being sold' without worth-while results. No longer do the petty jealousies between the officers interest the dairymen. There might have been a time when the farmers got all 'hot-up' over Riddle, Rockwell or Williams—but right now they want results and not wobbly results either.

There are a good many dairy men who would like to see the Farm Bureau committed to a good sized shoe and kick out the whole bunch of officers in both pool associations and start writing on a clean slate. And they are hoping the Farm Bureau can do it.

Swine Demonstration in Madison April 22

Wisconsin hog producers will have their day at their agricultural experiment station here on Saturday, April 22. The occasion will be the first swine feeding demonstration of the institution.

Director F. B. Morrison, and his associates, will tell the swineowners of the importance of yellow corn over white corn for pork production. Included in the list and other features will be a demonstration showing the better protein feeds for fall pigs and the importance of alfalfa hay for fall litters.

The officials of the state swine breeders' association cooperating with the experiment station in the demonstration are: E. H. Parker, Rock county, president, Wisconsin Swine Breeders' association; C. S. Cushman, Columbia county, president, Poland China Breeders' association; W. J. Martin, Lafayette county, president of the Chester White Breeders' association; and D. Whitmore, Walworth county, president of the Berkshire Breeders' association.

Much Is Expected of Reid Murray as Livestock Secretary

Officials of the Wisconsin Live Stock Breeders' association have employed, as secretary of the organization, Reid Murray, of Winnebago county.

Murray is a native of Waupaca county and has been identified with the live stock interests of central Wisconsin for a period of years. After attending the University of Wisconsin, Murray was engaged successively in agricultural extension work for the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroads, the college of agriculture, and one of the largest banks in the Fox River valley. He will assume the responsibilities of his position May 1, succeeding George W. Davies, who has accepted an important position in California.

Champion Holstein in Washington Co.

Washington county has robbed Canada of the distinction of having a world's champion two-year-old. A Holstein, owned by Lawrence P. Murphy of Hartford, has displaced the Canadian holder by producing 4521 pounds of milk containing 25.237 pounds of fat in seven days.

Murphy graduated from the Wisconsin short course in agriculture in 1920.

The test was verified and inspected by Roy T. Harris, superintendent of official testing in Wisconsin, and by J. J. Schaefer, a director of the Holstein-Friesian association.

FARMERS' ATTENTION!

Specialist Employed for Land Clearing

T. J. Flippin has been employed as land clearing engineer by the Southern Lincoln County Land Clearing association. Flippin has resigned his work as graduate student in agriculture at the University of Wisconsin to accept his duties in Lincoln county.

Before going to the land clearing college of agriculture he spent six years at the Oregon institution and for two years was the agricultural agent of Columbia county, Oregon.

Flippin expects to perfect an active land clearing organization and to stimulate a big land clearing program.

Clark Co. Holstein Breeders Will Show

The Holstein breeders of northern Clark county are staging a big cattle show and competition. Entries being made from a number of the best herds in the county. One of the big features of the event will be the annual boys and girls' live stock judging contest. The winner in this competition will receive a pure bred Holstein bull, and it is expected that boys and girls from all over the county will compete.

Big Shorthorn Prize List at State Fair

More than $2,500 will be expended by the American Shorthorn Breeders' Association to encourage a showing of "Reds, Whites and Rouans" at the 1922 Wisconsin State Fair.

The officers of the organization met recently and apportioned the prize money fund among the expositions of the country. While Wisconsin does not have as many herds as many of the other states, it is credited with producing a number of the best representatives of the breed.
